

Sanjana T Anjan portfolio

about me:

Sanjana T Anjan

whereabouts:

-sanjanadq25@gmail.com

-Bengaluru,Karnataka

so why design?

There is a part of me that loves art and creativity.

There is a part of me that loves helping others in any possible way to make them happy. When I was making a career choice, it was between the two, psychology and fine art. I was in a dilemma.

Then it struck me,

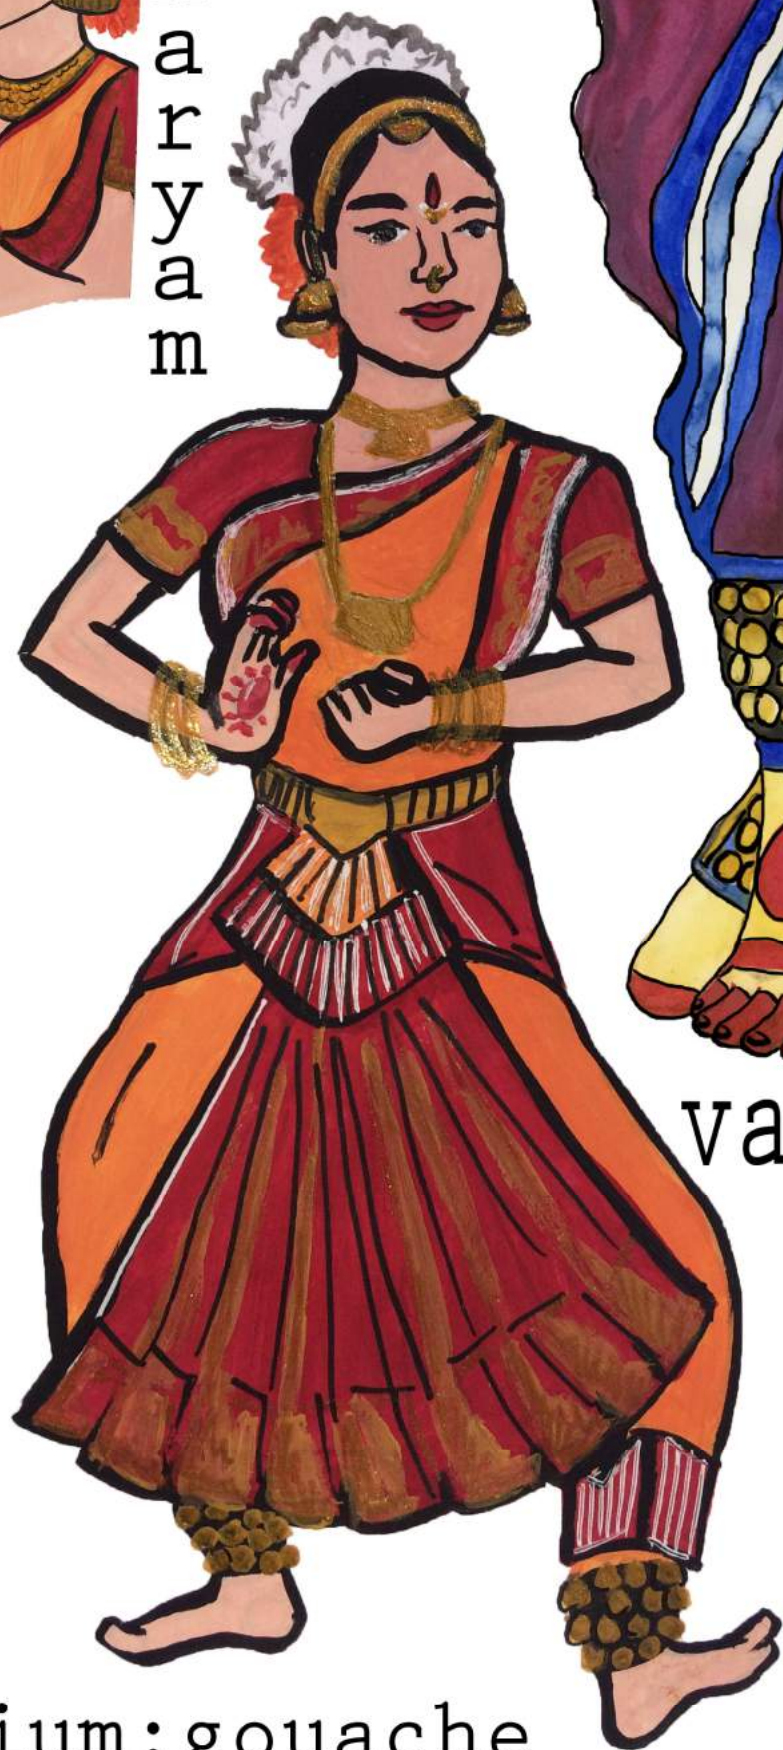

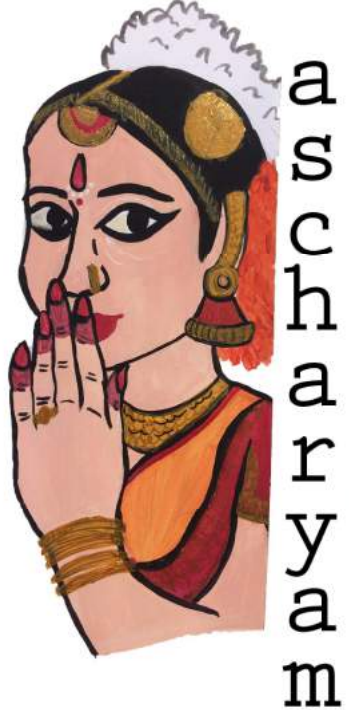

DESIGN.A

combination of the two, it was my calling.

that loves art

self portrait
medium:mixed media

vandanam

medium:gouache

7 days

7 paintings

■ Mind of dreams

■ medium: acrylic

grey - scale monroe medium:oil

pull you out of the darkness and lead you into the light.

medium:acrylic

japanese culture

medium:acrylic

all india design hackathon 2020 what is the problem?

"Lack of essentials for the disabled during times of crisis."

DQ Labs Design Quotient™ DEENS DESIGN COLLEGE
WACOMI
STARDOTTER
UPES FTM Institute of Design and Media GITAM

don't worry. Introducing, able

for the disabled

a non profit organisation that caters to all your requirements during times of crisis.

Your needs, our services.

DQ Labs Design Quotient™ DEENS DESIGN COLLEGE
WACOMI
STARDOTTER
UPES FTM Institute of Design and Media
GITAM

To provide services to those in need doorstep delivery of:

- essentials
- medical requirements
- regular groceries
- sanitization and self care kits

AND running tasks for you.

DQ Labs Design Quotient™ DEENS DESIGN COLLEGE
WACOMI
STARDOTTER
UPES FTM Institute of Design and Media
GITAM

COVID-19 poses unique challenges for people with disabilities

To make matters worse, people with compromised immunity and chronic conditions could be at a higher risk of contracting coronavirus infection. "It can be harder for disabled people to take prudent steps to protect themselves from the coronavirus outbreak. It also takes away their freedom and makes them anxious and thus affects their mental health," said Dr. Meghna Topkins, associate consultant, Internal Medicine, Fortis.

People with visual impairment and blindness depend upon touch for most of their daily activities. They need to hold the hand of an escort to move around, they cannot read the messages that the rest of the population can see; they cannot practice social distancing unless there are innovative approaches like keeping a safe distance using a white cane.

For the hearing impaired, especially those who are not literate, they cannot hear the message or read it. Since many depend on lip-reading, they are compromised when the person giving a message is wearing a mask.

People with disability need much more support than others in the face of a pandemic. They may not be using properly and may experience higher stress because they are unable to understand what is happening all around them, says Professor G.K. Murthy, vice president and director, Indian Institute of Public Health, Hyderabad.

How might the pandemic affect those who have disabilities?

For people with disabilities, all the general challenges that come with the pandemic certainly apply, but there are additional barriers. The first is communication—getting information can be more difficult for people with vision, hearing, and even cognitive disabilities, as popular news sources may not be accessible, especially when information is changing quickly. For visually impaired and can't access so that keeping all of us informed is key to the COVID-19 public health response, but information is not always accessible to the disability community, leaving us isolated.

able

DQ Labs Design Quotient™ DEENS DESIGN COLLEGE
WACOMI
STARDOTTER
UPES FTM Institute of Design and Media GITAM

get in touch with your personal abler sign up on our website

place your orders/requirement

and you're done!

contact us

able
for the disabled

www.ableforthedisabled.com ph: +91 0981237654
able quarters #15, sabya office complexes whitefield, bangalore-14

@ableforthedisabled
@ableforthedisabled
@ableforthedisabled ableforthedisabled@gmail.com

DQ Labs Design Quotient™ DEENS DESIGN COLLEGE
WACOMI
STARDOTTER
UPES FTM Institute of Design and Media GITAM

banked the 1st place.
an event conducted by dq labs in partnership with wacom.

doodles
doodles
doodles

a mini product design project

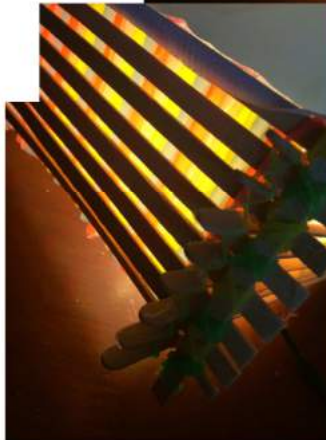

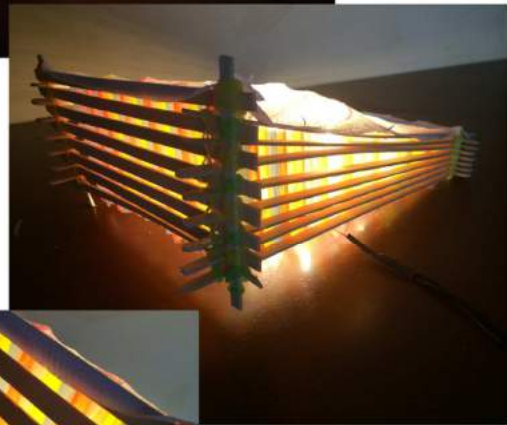

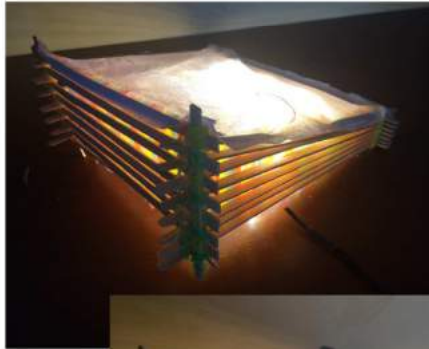

LAMP SHADE

table-top

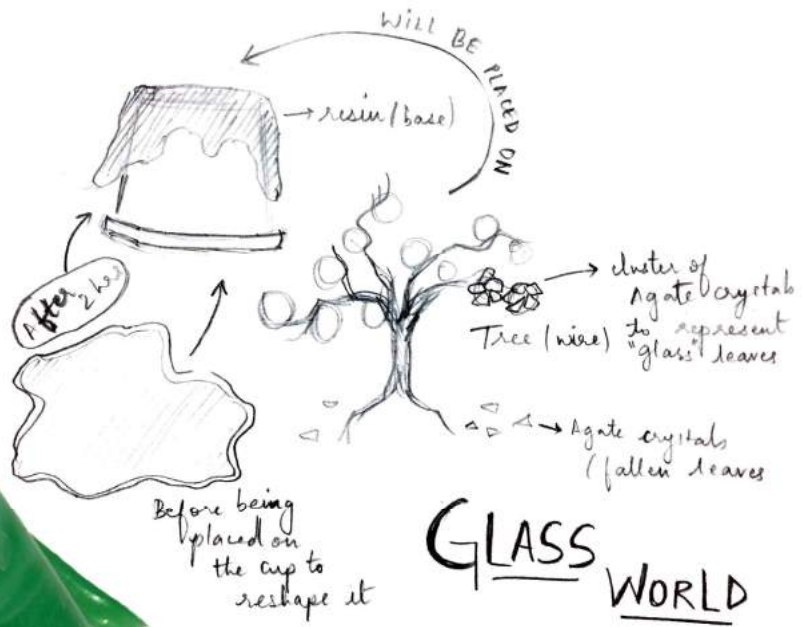

materials :

1. rubber bands (binding agent)
2. plastic straws(decorative element)
3. popsicle sticks(lampshade frame)
4. tissue paper(lampshade)
5. light bulb

PRODUCT

thank you!

glass world

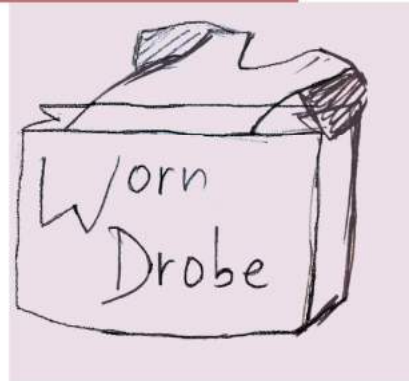

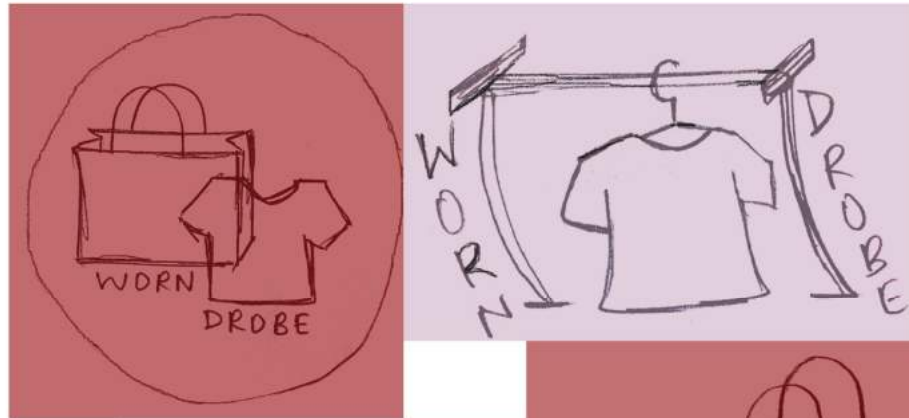

materials used:

- Resin
- Epoxy
- wire
- agate crystals
- hot glue

ideation:

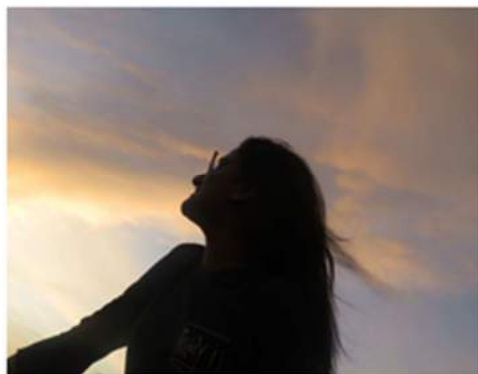

final:

My friends started a small thrift clothing store online during the pandemic. They reached out to me to design a logo for their company.

through the lens-
an attempt at photography

Canon PowerShot SX710HS

happysad?

sadhappy?

happiness and sadness are equally important.

one cannot wish for life to always be happy and one cannot say life is always sad.

medium: acrylic, photoshop

s t r o k e s strokes

strokes

s t r
o k
e s

medium:oil paints

modern kali

Adding
humour to lighten the ferocious aspect of kali by depicting her possessing modern weapons
like a gun, dagger and a grenade.

medium:gouche

medium:
autodesk sketchbook,
Photoshop

Brand Book

'X' is height of
b from bossin

Logo

#E43540

#fff

#000

Bold

Strong &

Empowered

Logo Usage

Designathon2020

-An event where a group of people work with various small businesses and NGO's to design their logos and do their branding.

Eczar

Primary Font: Eczar

the application of scientific knowledge for practical purposes, especially in industry. "advances in computer technology"

Secondary Font: Saira

medium:
oil on canvas

crepe paper clock

day01

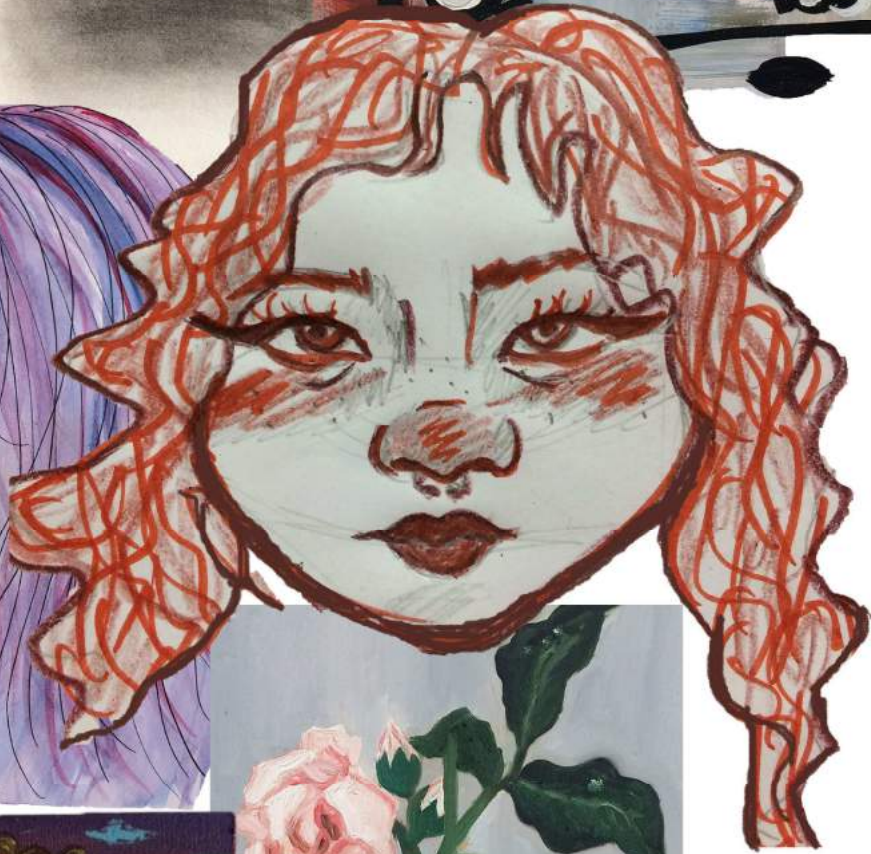

day02

day03

tropical wall mural 7ft x 3ft

t h a n k y o u

